FACILITIES MANAGEMENT

AT COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY

FM WEEKLY
COMMUNICATION

Issue 126

WELCOME NEW FM EMPLOYEES (JUNE 2021)

Please welcome Trent Wolf and Raymond Roder to Facilities Management!

Trent Wolf

Trent started mid-June as Trades Manager within the FM Operations section. Over the past 30 plus years he has served as an apprentice, journeyman, service tech, foreman, superintendent, owner, and supervisor. Trent is coming to CSU FM from the Colorado School of Mines where he worked from 2012 to 2021. He supervised the Fire Alarm, Fire Suppression, Commissioning, and Project Coordination shops there, and prior to those responsibilities, he supervised the HVAC shop at Mines. He also owned and operated a HVAC business for 10 years in the Denver Metro area. Before he owned his own business, he was in the Sheet Metal Local #9 Union for 11 years.

His role as Trades Manager encompasses the management of the skilled trades shops, supervision of an assistant manager, and the Building Operations Manager at the Infectious Disease Research Center.

Trent also shared a little bit about his hobby as a part time blacksmith, "On the weekends, I make knives and decorative items that my wife would like me to stop keeping around the house."

Raymond Roder

A Colorado native, Raymond joined the Building Services Group's Foothills custodial team 6AM within the FM Operations section. He helps to provide custodial services necessary to ensure clean, safe, sanitary, and well maintained buildings, a necessary service that enhances CSU's ability to achieve its objectives in instruction, research, and public service. His background is in direct care for persons with developmental disabilities with various service agencies throughout Northern Colorado, as well as family farming and agriculture.

He shared that he enjoys hiking, fishing, playing guitar, and spending time with his family. Fun fact – he has traveled to Taiwan three times and Japan once.
