

Book: Men Explain Things to Me

Morgan Library Copy: https://colostate.primo.exlibrisgroup.com/permalink/01COLSU_INST/15cg0eq/alma991013181149703361

Author: Rebecca Solnit

Themes: Women's real-life experiences with sexism.

Content Cautions: Sexism, discussion of sexual assault, awkward social situations.

Synopsis: Collection of essays about various experiences of sexism, including the humorous but revealing essay about men who wrongly assume they know something and women whom they wrongly assume do not. Drawing on real-life experiences of the author and academic data, this book explores the causes and effects of the cultural phenomenon of "mansplaining" in addition to other ideas.

The resources in the FM JEDI collection were added with the intention of upraising traditionally marginalized voices. Viewpoints expressed are those of the author. We hope these materials add to a well-rounded world view. However, it's up to the reader to interrogate their own viewpoints and biases and to determine what to take from the content.
